Developer Registration Request Status

Check the status of your developer registration request.

After you have submitted your request to register as a developer, Amazon evaluates the information provided and approves or denies your request. If denied, you can address the reason for the denial by viewing the link to the questions and controls that were missed, and then resubmitting your Developer Profile. The way you check the status of your request varies slightly depending on the type of the application.

For more information, refer to Terminology.

The following procedures show you how to check the status of your request to
