Press Releases and Promotions

Learn how to promote an app.

Amazon must approve all press releases that mention Amazon and its Selling Partner Appstore and requests for app reviews. This document outlines process and requirements for software partners.

Press release approvals process

To issue a press release, blog post, or other announcement about your participation in the Selling Partner Appstore:

- Draft the release:
The release will be drafted and issued by you, the software partner; it is not a joint release. To minimize edits and decrease review time, refer to the following writing guidelines. Also include the following descriptor:

The Selling Partner Appstore is a one-stop-shop where the small and medium-sized businesses that sell on Amazon can easily discover quality applications to help them automate, manage and grow their business. Accessible from Seller Central, the Selling Partner Appstore features applications created by Amazon and external software partners and covers a range of functionalities across the selling lifecycle.

- Submit the release for review: You should submit the release as a Word document to selling-partner-appstore@amazon.com for review and approval at least two weeks before the desired release date. When submitting your release for review:

Writing guidelines

To streamline the review and approvals process, keep in mind the following guidelines:

Do

- Do refer to sellers in the Amazon store as “businesses that sell on Amazon.”
- Do spell out Selling Partner Appstore in all instances.

Don't

- Don't include a quote from an Amazon executive.
- Don't include sales projections.
- Don't use the Amazon boilerplate or the Amazon stock ticker.

- Don't include statements or metrics that cannot be substantiated. This includes claims such as "first," "best," or "only."
- Don't overstate your relationship with Amazon. This includes assertions such as "exclusive," or "alliance."
- Don't refer to your organization as an "associate" of Amazon.com, as this would be confused with Amazon Associates, our online affiliate program.
