What is the Selling Partner API?

Selling Partner API Onboarding Overview >

Register as a Private SP-API Developer

Complete the SP-API Developer Profile as a private developer.

This topic provides a registration overview for private SP-API seller developers. Private developers build applications that integrate only their company with Amazon Services APIs.

Caution

If you are registering as an SP-API private vendor, refer to Register as a Private SP-API Vendor.

Before you register, review the Registration recommendations in the SP-API Registration overview topic.

Complete the Developer Profile

When you set up a Developer Profile, you must provide:

- Your organization's contact information
- Information about the data you require from Amazon Services APIs
- Security and use information

We require this information to ensure your compliance with Amazon's policies and agreements, and access requirements.

After you complete the Developer Profile, Amazon will evaluate your information and create a case with next steps. You might be asked to provide additional information or documentation, so you must complete all fields truthfully and accurately.

Use the following steps to complete the Developer Profile.

you are contacted for more information, you must respond within five days to prevent case closure. For more information, refer to Check the status of your request to register as a developer.

To update your developer profile later, refer to Update Your Developer Profile in Solution Provider Portal.

Developer Profile review

The decision to grant or deny Selling Partner API access is made based on the information that you provide in your Developer Profile, including but not limited to your application functionality and your compliance with the Acceptable Use Policy and the Data Protection Policy. We cannot provide detailed information about how we determine Selling Partner API eligibility, but we prioritize data security in these decisions. Refer to Registration recommendations for more policy information.

If you close or do not respond to questions about your case within five days, your case will be resolved and your SP-API access will remain unchanged.
