Submit Listings data

Learn how to submit and manage listing data using the Listings Items API or `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`.

This guide explains how to submit and manage listing data using the Listings Items API. This guide covers common workflows and code samples for creating and updating listings, including product details, images, inventory, pricing, relationships, and shipping information.

Submit images data

Images submitted with the Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED` can be hosted on or distributed by an Amazon resource such as Amazon S3 or AWS CloudFront or on third-party servers that are publicly available to Amazon.

With the Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`, you can submit image data alone or with other listings data elements.

Create a listing with other data elements using Listings Items API

HTTP

PUT https://sellingpartnerapi-na.amazon.com/listings/2021-08-01/items/XXXXXXXXXXXX/ABC123?marketplaceIds=ATVPDKIKX0DER&issueLocale=en_US
```

JSON

```
{  "productType": "LUGGAGE",  "requirements": "LISTING",  "attributes": {    "condition_type": [      {        "value": "new_new",        "marketplace_id": "ATVPDKIKX0DER"      }    ]  }}

Submit relationships data

A variation family represents a collection of items for one product that is sold in multiple varieties. For example, a clothing article can come in multiple sizes and colors. Each unique size and color combination is represented by a separate listings item and grouped together by a parent listings item to provide a single detail page experience. With the Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`, you can submit relationship data alone or with other listings data elements.

With the Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`, a parent listings item is created first and each child listings item refers to the parent listings item with the `child_parent_sku_relationship` attribute. Each listings item in the variation family uses the `parentage_level` attribute to define if it is a parent or child within the variation family and the `variation_theme` attribute to define the varied attributes for the variation family.

Submit shipping data

Shipping settings for listings items are configured on the account-level by default for sellers in Seller Central. Professional sellers can apply alternative shipping settings by defining shipping templates that are applied to each applicable listings item. The Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED` support applying shipping templates to individual listings items by specifying the `merchant_shipping_group` attribute. By providing the `sellerId` parameter with the Product Type Definitions API, you can retrieve the available shipping templates configured by the seller as an enumeration on the `merchant_shipping_group` attribute value.

With the Listings Items API and `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`, you can submit shipping templates data alone or with other listings data elements. For more information, refer to the <https://developer-docs.amazon.com/sp-api/docs/tutorial-retrieve-merchant-shipping-templates> tutorial.

Create a listing with other data elements using `JSON_LISTINGS_FEED`
